JAMES STONE'S DEATH.

James Stone went to his stable Monday morning and fed his horse preparatory to going to Mt. Sterling. Returning to the house he sank down at the front door and made a noise that alarmed Bascom Sturgell, living in the house. Mr. Sturgell went to his assistance and helped him to bed. He died a few minutes before seven o'clock. He had not been feeling well for several days, but his sudden death was a shock to the community.

The funeral was set for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, to be held in the Owingsville Cemetery, after services at the home by Elder W. J. Nesbitt, Robert L. Zimmerman, W. H. Daugherty, Joseph Dawson, Geo. T. Young, Bascom Sturgell, E. H. Goodpaster, John Gilton.

James Stone was born Nov. 9th, 1832, and was reared on Bald Eagle Creek, this county. He was the last survivor of the family. Among his brothers and sisters were Milton, John, Marshall, P. Roy, St. and Mrs. Harlan Moore. He followed farming some years and then the Civil war came to this town and engaged in the livery stable business for several years. In the latter years of his life he was connected with the Owingsville Marble & Granite Works. He was twice married, his first wife being a Miss Conner, a sister of Harrison Conner, the Circuit Clerk, and Mr. John A. Turner. Their son John died a few years ago. His second wife was Miss Ann Burbridge, daughter of Jack Burbridge. She died a few years ago. Deceased nearest relatives are nephews a niece.

James Stone was a widely known man and had friends everywhere he was known. He was a shrewd business man and always had a share of trade in any avocation engaged in. Being of a cheerful disposition, his company was sought and enjoyed by congenial spirits and he will be much missed and sincerely mourned by a wide circle of friends.

The man who cannot afford to take his county paper is the one who cannot, in the least, afford to be without it.

It's quite interesting to notice how the Socialists and Populists parties are fighting one another. Seems as if the dying are trying to kill the dead.

The rain and hail storm Sunday eve did considerable damage in this vicinity. A large amount of fencing was washed away and tobacco beds on hillsides were greatly damaged.

What country editor can dispute these words of William J. Bryan? "Don't think, you men who make the city dates, that you create all the ideas of this country. Out in the little hamlets men on small salaries are helping to make this nation what it ought to be."

Montgomery county has two candidates for the same State office in the persons of W. B. O'Connell and Capt. W. T. Havens, who both seek to be Chief Deputy Clerk of the Court of Appeals, the former under J. Morgan China, the latter under Robert L. Green. Honors seem to be even so far as this county is concerned.

The late George Lansdown, of near Wyoming, left his estate, consisting of 130 acres of land and personality together amounting to about $10,000, in trust to his only two grandchildren, Mrs. Eva Carr, of Georgetown, Ill., and Lucy Lansdown, the guardian of the latter being Rollie K. Saunders, of Hillsboro. Wm. C. Jackson was named as trustee. In case they died without issue the estate was to go to Bath county. The two heirs brought suit to have the will set aside. A large number of witnesses were examined. Judge Daugherty sustained the will.
